CARP FISHING FOR SEASON IS OVER NOW

Lake Kegonsa Has Yielded Fishermen
70,000 Pounds of Fish.

After hauling in 70,000 pounds of carp from Lake Kegonsa, the firm of Converse & Hase of Fox Lake, Ill., yesterday closed its work for the year. Ever since Aug. 19 when the first haul was made, a crew of fourteen men has been engaged in hauling
the lake for the rough fish. About four carloads have been shipped east to New York. These are sold for 2 1/2 to 3 cents a pound. A 3,000-foot net, averaging sixteen feet in depth, was used.

A bond of $200 will be returned to the firm. This was demanded to insure the seizure of rough fish only.

Monday was the last day for hauling hauls. In that haul 700 fish were captured. They are now being packed in 100-pound boxes and will be shipped the latter part of the week. Altogether about forty hauls have been made this season. A feature about the work has been that not over 150
bass or over twenty-five pickerel were caught in the nets this year, according to Mr. Converse.

New Game Fish.

"It would be useless," Mr. Converse continued, "to stock up Lake Kegonsa with game fish unless the carp are cleared out." The game fish would all swim into the lake river. At any rate, there are very few game fish in the lake, and those are small ones.
A special deputy game warden, C.
M. Clark, has been on duty with the men ever since they started. He kept a record of all game fish found in the nets and ordered them thrown back into the lake. That the fish and game laws were strictly adhered to is declared to be proved by the fact that all work was done in day time
as required and that neither the firm
nor any employees took out non-resident licenses.

"It took us three days to make one single haul," remarked Mr. Converse.
In ordinary good weather we could make a haul in a day. But we met many obstacles. Our net followed the bottom of the lake. In doing so we encountered piles of stone, which evidently were thrown overboard years ago when they were transporting stone across the lake from the quarries.

When the fish were captured, they were placed in two large boats, one of which held 2 1/2 tons and the other 4 to 5 tons, which were then tugged
down the Yahara to Stoughton, a distance of eight miles. Although the lake is but three miles from the city,
this circuitous route was the only one possible. At Stoughton the fish were packed in boxes with ice.

MR. F. J. BAILEY IS TO WED BELOIT LADY

Engagement Announced of Janesville Businessman to Mrs. Carrie Farr of Beloit.

The engagement of Mrs. Carrie
Farr, widow of the late Dr. Lyman Farr of Beloit, to Mr. Fred J. Bailey of this city has been announced and it is understood that the wedding will take place early in the spring. Mr.
Bailey and Mrs. Farr have been warm friends for many years and their wedding will be the culmination of a relationship begun when Mr. Bailey first went to Beloit to begin the business of Hottel, Bailey and company, which conducts a store in this city and one in Beloit, of which W. H. Greenman,
a member of the firm, has charge.

STAR OF BETHLEHEM IS TO BE SEEN IN THE HEAVENS

Is to Be Found in the East Every Morning at Daybreak.

An opportunity to see the object that gladdened the wise men of the east is offered the present generation.
The Star of Bethlehem may be seen by early risers now on any cloudless morning. Astronomers say that this star is visible at the present time for the first time in five hundred years
and that it will not be coming this way again for the next five hundred years. The star is visible in the east every morning just at daybreak. It is very bright and can easily be distinguished.

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL CARRY FOOTBALL ROOTERS TO GAME

Those Janesville football enthusiasts
who wish to attend the Wisconsin-Chicago game at Chicago tomorrow will have an opportunity to go by special train. The St. Paul road has put on a special train for the day only. It will arrive in Janesville from Madison
at about 8 a. m. and leave Chicago at 11:30 a. m., arriving here about 2 a. m.

FELL FROM CARS AND WAS BADLY INJURED

J. S. Miller, North-Western Brakeman
Hurt About Head and Shoulders
This Morning.

J. S. Miller of Harsholm, brakeman employed by the North-Western railroad, received several cuts about his head, injured his shoulder and sprained his ankle this morning while attempting to jump on a moving freight train about 11 o'clock. The train on which Miller was working broke down and he went up ahead to flag any approaching trains. A freight came along that way and in attempting to "flag" it he lost his hold and fell, striking the journal box on the wheels. He was taken to the hospital and Dr. Palmer dressed his wounds.
He was reported to be resting as comfortably as was possible this afternoon.

WONDERFUL FOWLS FROM ASIA MINOR

Allie Razook Will Receive Some Strange Birds for Poultry Show.

Strange, brightly-colored fowls from far-off Palestine will be a feature at the Southern Wisconsin Poultry show
to be held in Janesville, Jan. 3-8, 1931.
Allie Razook, the South Main street
confectioner, has just received word that his uncle, Assaleh Nockezy, 25-fend of Damascus, Asia Minor, has shipped several rare specimens by express and that they will arrive in this city in time for the show. The birds are said to be different from anything ever seen in this country and are sure to create a sensation.

STORY HOURS WILL BE HELD AT LIBRARY

First Gathering for Children on Saturday Mornings Begins Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will see the opening story hours at the city library for the coming winter. Miss Gertrude Skavlen and Miss Leah Rowe will have charge of the hour tomorrow and Thursday-
ing tales will be read the little victors. Last winter these story hours became very popular and were much enjoyed by the children. The hour has been set for ten-thirty.

NEW ROLLING STOCK FOR THE INTERURBAN

And Re-Balancing of Entire Roadbed
Are Among Improvements
Slated for New Year.

According to reports which are current here the Rockford & Interurban
Ry. directors have decided to expend several hundred thousand dollars next season in re-balancing and improving the "suburbans" and bettering the rolling stock by the addition of six hundred-foot cars. It is the plan, thereby, to measurably increase the
through passenger and express service to Chicago.

PIN PRESENTED TO PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

Members of Senior Y. M. C. A. Class
Gave Birch Handsome Gold
Stick Pin.

Physical Director Birch of the Y.
M. C. A. was the recipient last evening of a handsome stick pin presented to him at the assembly of the Senior gymnasium class, by whose members it was presented. Mr. Birch is to leave the Y. M. C. A. work Saturday night to go into business and the class chose this time to express to Mr. Birch their appreciation of what he had done for them and the esteem in which he is held. The pin is of gold with a dragon design and a pearl setting. The presentation was made by Walter Kohler. Mr. Birch responded with a short impromptu speech
thanking them for the gift.

OBITUARY.

T. J. Ziegler.

The funeral of the late Thomas Jefferson Ziegler was held yesterday
from his late residence, 4649 Woodlawn avenue, Chicago. Rev. Shorman of St. Paul's Episcopal church conducted the services and the interment was at Rose Hill cemetery. The pallbearers were all close, intimate friends of the deceased and were: E. J.
Smith and Joseph Connors of Janesville, Henry L. Fisher, James Bling-ham, Charles Hayden and Robert A.
Damer of Chicago. The floral tributes were most beautiful.

Frederick C. Roessling.

Obsequies over the remains of the late Frederick C. Roessling were performed this morning at nine o'clock
at St. Mary's church by Rev. W. A.
Gosbel. The funeral was a large one and the floral tributes of loving friends and relatives were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were some and some-in-law of Mr. Roessling—E. C.
E. J. and J. A. Roessling and William J. Lathrop. The remains were laid at rest in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mrs. Fred Lemke.

From the late home at 625 South Academy street, funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock,
and at half past two from St. Paul's Lutheran church, for Mrs. Fred Lemke.
The number of relatives and friends attending the funeral was large and the floral offerings were many and beautiful. John Piske, Fred Buggs, August Dobrats, Reinhardt Mann, Charles Rauch and Charles Quade were the pallbearers.
The remains were interred in Oak Hill cemetery.

Document From Italy: An impressive looking document from Milan, Italy, was filed with the register of deeds today. It was issued by the American consul at the instance of Edward H. Hillman and delegates to Edward E. Hillman of Delphi, Kansas, the right to deed a certain real estate
interest in Clinton.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR SOMEONE.

The owners of the Woodruff farm
have decided upon making one more sale at a sacrifice price and are therefore offering to sell the west sixty-four acres of the farm, with the large stock barn, which cost $2000 to build,
for $10,500. The land is all good fertile soil, suitable for raising tobacco,
sugar beets, berries or small fruits.
The place is one of great natural beauty particularly desirable for a country home or as a dairy farm. Its location affords distinct advantages for selling the milk at retail from wagons sent from the farm. The property is located 1 1/2 miles northwest of the business center of Janesville from which it is reached over good maintenanced roads.

For particulars inquire of Geo. or Fred B. Woodruff, Janesville, Wis.

MRS. MOHN TO GET LONG PRISON TERM

Will Spend Seven Years Behind Bars
According to Dispatch Received
by District Attorney Fisher.

District Attorney J. L. Fisher, who returned yesterday from West Union,
Iowa, where he testified against Mrs.
Elizabeth Mohn in the criminal action
brought against her for swindling, received word today that the accused had been found guilty and would be sent to prison for seven years. Mrs.
Mohn, it will be remembered, served a term in the Rock county jail for practicing high finance in Beloit and has a long record in the Dodge state which earned for her the sobriquet of
"the Casio Chickadee of Wisconsin."

COURT GRANTS COMPERS A STAY.

Mandate Sending Labor Leaders to Jail is Deferred.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The court of appeals of the District of Columbia,
upon request of counsel for labor leaders, granted a stay until Nov. 22
of the issuance of the mandate sending President Compers, Vice-President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor to jail for contempt of the supreme court of the District of Columbia in the Huck's Store and Range case.

Chief Justice Shepard stated that if the labor leaders had by November 22,
the day the supreme court of the United States reconvenes, filed in that court a petition for certiorari, on application a further stay of the mandate would be granted pending the determination by the higher tribunal of the application.

PERMANENT DRAMATIC CLUB FOR JANESVILLE

To Be Organized by Mrs. Janet B.
Day—"Servant in the House",
One of the Plays to Be Presented.

Those possessed of histrionic talent
will be interested in the announcement that Mrs. Janet B. Day is planning to organize a permanent dramatic club in Janesville. The first play presented will probably be "The Servant in the House."

Already Occupied with Rakes.

The wife of a Kansas City saloon keeper asked him why he didn't author up the leaves which littered his yard and burn them. "The truth is,"
he replied, "I can't leave the rakes
long enough to rake the leaves."

REAL VALUE OF MUSIC

Opening Monday Afternoon at 4 P. M.
Luigi D'Urbano and His Band of 45 Artists Returns for a Week
at the Myers Theatre.

Monday, November, Nov. 22, Signor
Luigi D'Urbano and his wonderful band will return to the Myers theatre
after ten weeks' triumphal success through Wisconsin and Michigan. The Janesville Gazette had the following
to say:

"The educational value of real music
is appreciated by a few people, too few, perhaps. The phonograph and the mechanical piano-player, notwithstanding their faults, have done more than anything else to bring about a popular conception of the beauty and artistic merit of some real music as well as the popular light opera and rag-time melody. Good music may be far from ideal, but it cannot be less, in degree, taken the place of the government subsidized grand operas of European countries. This is leading up to a question. Do you enjoy music, real music? We are not in the habit of carrying advertisements for bands in our editorial columns, but we want everybody within calling distance of the local theatre to hear the band that is giving matinees and evening concerts there this week. That is, if you enjoy music. The program has not much popular music, recalled, but there are a few on such program. The lack of this sort of music may interfere with the attendance but to those who enjoy such the music of the reminders by the hand of D'Urbano and his band, it is a sublime fortunate thing for the people of this country that they have a chance to hear this band. And we sincerely hope that the engagement will be a financial success for the credit of our communities. The educational advantage of good music
ought to be the better appreciated by hearing such an artistic performance.
And D'Urbano himself is a wonder.
As we said above, the Gazette is not in the habit of boosting theatrical attractions but we feel that we should be remiss in our duty to our readers
if we failed to call attention to the remarkable entertainment of high-grade music furnished by this wonderful organization."

KICKERS' KOLM

Milwaukee Wks. Nov. 18, 1909.
Editor Janesville Gazette:
In your issue of Nov. 16th you publish an item regarding the death of Thomas Wolfing. Knowing that no such name appeared on the Christian Science board of lecturers and that no one beside from members of this board lectured publicly on the subject,
I investigated the case and have a telegram from Mr. Wm. E. Brown, Christian Science committee on publication
for the state of California, stating positively that Thomas Wolfing was not a Christian Scientist, but a Spiritualist and died while in the act of addressing a gathering of people of that persuasion at Santa Cruz.

I trust that you will publish this letter prominently in your good paper,
so that the mistake may do Christian Scientists as little harm as possible.

Yours sincerely,
JAMES P. FITCH.

ANOTHER NAME ADDED TO NEW YARDS' INJURY ROLL

Switchman Edward Bler Had Hand
Crushed While Switching
on Scale Track.

While working at the new yards
last night about eight o'clock, Switchman Edward Bler met with an accident which may result in the loss of two fingers. The half-and-half switch-engine, in charge of Engineer James Wilson and Fireman Grantham, was handling a string of cars on the scale track when Bler attempted to make a coupling and caught his left hand between the knuckles of the couple.
The second and little fingers were badly crushed and it was necessary to amputate the third finger. Immediately upon the arrival of the injured man at the hospital, Dr. Woods, who was called to attend the case, stated
this morning that it was hoped that the second and little fingers could be saved. In addition to the injury to his hand, Bler was badly bruised
about the head.

BUNK CAR MAY BE PUT ON NEXT TIME TABLE

Delayed Carried by Fact That Car Has No Rights on Road May Be Eliminated.

It is hoped that the bunk car will be put on the next Wisconsin Division time table and that it will be run of the main track. This will give the "workmen's special" rights on "the road" and the men will be able to tell
at what time they will reach home within at least thirty minutes. As it is now, any switch-engine or handcar can hold the bunk-car up in spite of heated objections on the part of the men. The new car, A1410, arrived today and was put on for the evening
trip in place of the condemned A1480.

Conductor Dutton of Daraboo, a Northern Wisconsin man, who is well known among railroad men of this city, was killed yesterday at Belvidere

BRODHEAD.

Brodhead, Nov. 19.—The next number on the Brodhead lecture course occurs on the evening of December 15
and is by Governor Hoch of Kansas.
His subject is "A Message From Kansas."

L. J. Stair was down from Monroe
over night.

Mr. and Mrs. Burr Sprague gave a party on Wednesday evening for their grandson, Master Burr Sprague, Jr., at their home. The little friends assembled and had a most delightful time at the close of which a sumptuous six-course dinner was served.

Some sixty friends of Rev. and Mrs.
J. Lloyd Smith met at their home on Tuesday evening by way of a surprise party which was a very successful affair. There was only one drawback to the evening's pleasure,
Mrs. Smith being ill from the effects of pneumonia poisoning.

Mrs. G. S. Darby, who recently had an operation in Mercy hospital, Janesville, has so far recovered as to be able to return home on Wednesday evening.

Rev. Frederick W. Hatch, pastor of the First Baptist church in Holott, will hold services in the Baptist church in Brodhead on November 23. It is desired that all interested in having the church opened for regular services be present.

A double game of basketball will take place this evening at the high school gymnasium, between the boys and girls of the Albany high school and the boys and girls of the Brodhead school.

ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION, GAS,
HEARTBURN OR STOMACH HEADACHE

Relief in five minutes awaits every man or woman who suffers from a bad Stomach.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dotted stomach gets the blues and grumbles.
Give it a good dose, then take Pope's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pope's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents
for a large case at any drug store here,
and will relieve the most obstinate case of indigestion and Upset Stomach

In five minutes.
There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides,
one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach feels—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin.
Tell your druggist that you want Pope's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out-of-order and uncomfortable now
you can get relief in five minutes.

GOV. DAVIDSON

ISSUES THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—Gov. Davidson today issued the following proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving day:

"It is well to live a rich, full life, and for its attainment, it is good now and then to pause and consider our circumstances, to review our resources and to plan for their greater effectiveness."

"In the productiveness of nature we are now rich in the fruits of the year. Commercial and industrial prosperity have returned. Peace and good will toward each other abide with us and we are working harmoniously together for the realization of our material, social and spiritual ideals."

"It is fitting that we should give a day to the appreciation of what we have done and to plan for the future."

"Therefore by the authority of law and in harmony with the proclamation of the president of the United States, I, J. O. Davidson, Governor of the state of Wisconsin, designate Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving day, and recommend that its usual customs be observed throughout the state."

"JAMES O. DAVIDSON."

THE TRIAL ACRE

To show what could be done with a small piece of land, and to induce men with small incomes to locate in the suburbs and take up truck gardening as a pastime, a Kansas City paper commenced a campaign of education on this kind of farming, something more than a year ago.

In order to demonstrate just what could be done, Emil Brus, a market gardener, set aside an acre of land and named it the "trial acre." Radishes, turnips, spinach, lettuce and beets were grown broadcast. When one crop was picked the ground was harrowed and sown again, and the work occupied the time that a man and boy could give to it mornings and evenings.

The first seed was planted September 12th, 1908, and the first crop was picked 20 days later. When the ground froze up Dec. 10 it was found that the trial acre had earned $240, as follows:

Radishes, 618 dozens, $1.25

Spinach, 30 bushels, 25

Spinach, 121 bushels, 90 75

Green onions, 321 dozens, 32 40

Green onions, 435 dozens, 43 50

Total, $240 00

The Technical World magazine gives the result of the experiment for the year and says:

"Not all of the acre was placed under cultivation at that time nor were all the vegetables harvested, many being left in the ground to rot for fertilizer for the next crops in the spring. Operations were not resumed again until May, although the weather was favorable for an earlier start. However, in that month the trial acre earned $300.75. In June it hit its real gain and the cash receipts were $104.60. Some idea of the quantities and prices realized are shown in the report for that month:

Lettuce, 60 bushels, 40 cents a bushel, $24 00

Lettuce, 30 bushels, 35 cents a bushel, 10 50

Lettuce, 40 bushels, 50 cents a bushel, 20 00

Turnips, 200 dozens, 12 1/2 cents a dozen, 25 00

Turnips, 100 dozens, 10 cents a dozen, 10 00

Turnips, 25 bushels, 50 cents a bushel, 12 50

String beans, 14 bushels, $1 a bushel, 14 00

String beans, 10 bushels, 75 cents a bushel, 7 50

String beans, 6 bushels, 60 cents a bushel, 3 60

Beets, 200 dozens, 15 cents a dozen, 30 00

Beets, 200 dozens, 12 1/2 cents a dozen, 25 00

Beets, 150 dozens, 10 cents a dozen, 15 00

Radishes, 600 dozens, 10 cents a dozen, 60 00

Radishes, 750 dozens, 8 1/2 cents a dozen, 62 50

Green onions, 600 dozens, 10 cents a dozen, 60 00

Green onions, 300 dozens, 8 1/2 cents a dozen, 25 00

Total, $104.60

"July was a month of dry, hot weather and the monthly earnings dropped to $252.50. The dry weather continued into August and the earnings for that month fell away to only $143.50. The last seed for the experiment were planted in the latter part of August and the early train in September swelled the total receipts for that month up to two hundred fifty dollars with a crop estimated to be worth one hundred fifty dollars still in the ground when the year's accounts for the trial acre closed. That gave the trial acre a total production for the year of approximately $1,761.65. A garden hoe judiciously used upon it would easily have increased that return by enough to have made the total production two thousand dollars."

"It wasn't the purpose of the trial acre demonstration to induce any man to give up his job to go into truck farming. It was merely to show what might be grown under ordinary methods of intensive gardening on a small acre, even a small backyard garden. Intensive gardening does not mean scientific gardening. It simply is to keep the ground busy all the time. The man who has ambition enough to do that in an ordinary city backyard or a suburban acre will never have to worry when the rent man comes 'round.'"

"This practical experiment ought to solve the problem of how to increase a fixed income in many homes. Moreover it is a good landlord and tenant towards earth is good land and the rewards liberally every intelligent tiller."

Governor Davidson is to be congratulated on his determination not to call an extra session of the legislature until the special committee are ready to report. From the present outlook some of these committees will never get together and a special session would simply mean another long-winded contest with nothing accomplished. The state is not suffering and will manage to jog along with the laws it has until some of the obnoxious measures can be repealed.

The commission plan of government is a fruitful topic for discussion, and almost every club in the city is taking it up. This is well, for the proposed change is a radical departure from old-time methods, and the more enlightenment that can be furnished the better. If it is a good plan, the city wants it, and if not, the people want to know the reason why. Don't be afraid to discuss it.

A subway moving platform between 19th and 42nd street, Broadway, New York, is being promoted with prospects for success. It will be graded in speed from three to sixteen miles per hour and will have a seating capacity for 75,000 passengers per hour. The estimated cost is $11,000,000. When completed it will add greatly to the transportation facilities of the great American city.

The good people of Janesville do not appreciate the fact that Cherry, where the mine disaster occurred, is less than 100 miles away. The stricken survivors are destitute and dependent upon charity, and will be for months to come. While other cities are responding generously can we afford to be indifferent? Money left at the Gazette office or any bank in the city will be promptly forwarded.

Russia has sold her East China Railroad in Manchuria to Japan for 30,000,000 rubles, reserving the right to transport troops. Japan, with 40,000,000 population, is about the size of Wisconsin. The fight for Manchuria was desperate because the territory was so badly needed. The country will develop rapidly under Japanese thrift.

The country has rapidly gone from a car shortage to a car famine. Last week the railroads needed 35,000 more freight cars than they could command. The average freight car runs less than 25 miles a day, owing to delays in loading and unloading. The companies are exhausting every effort to increase the earning capacity and keep the wheels in motion.

Governor Haskell of Oklahoma is again in the limelight as defendant in a case of land fraud. The government is prosecuting him for a deal in town lots in Muskogee. The new state with its bank guarantee law and spectacular governor is creating wide attention, and some notorious that is far from creditable.

The daily sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the past two months have averaged $300,000—an increase of 40 per cent over last year. The sales for the year are estimated at $5,500,000. This is the sort of competition that hurts the country merchant. Who is responsible and what is the remedy?

The Y. M. C. A. of Des Moines, Iowa, after soliciting funds from a local brewery, returned a check for $1,000. A brewer's money ought to be good enough to use in benevolent work.

The president is busy with the Bul-Huger-Pichel controversy, and the chances are that the latter may retire from the service.

man. We're wasting time here when we are reaching the stars across whose path we've run; we are not here for idle boasting of sordid triumphs we have won. We're here to make our best endeavor, but not that we may board and save, and pile the plunder up forever, till we are piled into the grave; we are not here for ostentation, to ride in yachts and motor cars; we're only here to earn salvation, and how a pathway to the stars. Each man is here to help another, to give, where charity is due; and to all men to be a brother, and to the Lord a servant true. And so, when we are filled with yearning, to talk of things we're doing, or wealth that we have laid away, let's think about this thing of living, and what life's for—and whence—and why; let's think about the wealth we're giving—it's better for us when we die!

Senator Charles A. Dick

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 18.—United States Senator Charles A. Dick has arrived in this city and opened his campaign by declaring himself in the senate. He declared that he is willing to go before the people under the new Brown law, which provides for the nomination of candidates for the legislature by the people at primaries. At the primaries next May will be chosen delegates to the convention which will name the state, congressional and judicial tickets. By direct primary vote must be named the county tickets in all the counties, and the legislative tickets.

Senator Dick declares he will stand on his record as a protectionist. He further asserts that the tariff will not be an issue in the coming Ohio campaign. In any case, he says, it will not be the sole issue.

Dick is going to have strong opposition for the senatorship. Charles P. Taft, brother of the president, can be counted on as a candidate, as can also ex-governor Myron T. Herrick and Harry M. Daugherty. Judge Robert W. Taylor of Cleveland has been prominently mentioned in connection with the senatorship, but he declines to become a candidate.

Since the recent municipal elections in Ohio the politicians of both parties in the state have been planning plans for the election of a successor to Senator Dick and the nomination of candidates for governor. In the Republican party two factions are figuring for supremacy. One faction is composed of the national administration forces, and the other consists of those who have all along been allied with Dick and ex-Senator Foraker. The Democrats are just now in a minority regarding the governorship, as Governor Harmon is not yet ready to announce whether he will stand for a re-nomination. Many of Harmon's closest friends do not hesitate to express the belief that he will not ask for a re-nomination, particularly since the manifestation of an organized effort made against him by National Committeeman Harvey C. Garber and the Bryan element. It is argued that if the governor should refuse to run it would put him in better form for the Democratic presidential nomination than if he entered the race and suffered defeat.

Not in accord with Harmon's policies or with him personally, a sixth election as mayor of Cleveland, probably would have stamped Tom L. Johnson to try to block the Harmon movement in Ohio and he could have prevented the sending of a solid Harmon delegation to the national convention. But Johnson's great power in the party has been shaken by his defeat for mayor. For years Johnson has had much influence in the councils of the party. He controlled the state convention at Sandusky in 1902 and forced the nomination of Rev. Herbert L. Hildrew for secretary of state. The following year he was successful in nominating himself for governor. Despite his crushing defeat he managed to retain his power through his ability to hold the mayor, and only last year he came very close to forcing the nomination of Alton Pomeroy for governor over Judson Harmon.

We're here to make our best endeavor, but not that we may board and save, and pile the plunder up forever, till we are piled into the grave; we are not here for ostentation, to ride in yachts and motor cars; we're only here to earn salvation, and how a pathway to the stars. Each man is here to help another, to give, where charity is due; and to all men to be a brother, and to the Lord a servant true. And so, when we are filled with yearning, to talk of things we're doing, or wealth that we have laid away, let's think about this thing of living, and what life's for—and whence—and why; let's think about the wealth we're giving—it's better for us when we die!

By a traveler in Italy the Rubicon, the famous river crossed by Julius Caesar, is described as "the merest trickle of a stream, in which it would be quite impossible for a man to drown himself."

Mother Was Right.

Two children, aged about 6 and 8, wandered into the receiving ward at a London hospital. The older hand of the doctor in charge the following note from his mother: "They have awfully cut. I think it is howling cut. You wait a minute and hear them cut."

The "Chewometer."

A chewometer is the latest device invented by a Fletcherite. It is a machine which, when fastened to the lower jaw, rings a bell when the requisite number of "chews" have been performed.

First Printed Books.

The first books had pages printed on one side only, the sheets being pasted back to back.

Pertinent Equipment.

"Pop, auntie read me a story the other day about a flower fairy who rode the horse chestnut." "Yes, son."

"Well, when flower fairies ride horse chestnuts, do they use larkspurs?"

Supreme in Her Line.

"When it comes to making a lining for a nest," softly quacked the elder duck, "I've got it down blue."

Senator Charles A. Dick

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 18.—United States Senator Charles A. Dick has arrived in this city and opened his campaign by declaring himself in the senate. He declared that he is willing to go before the people under the new Brown law, which provides for the nomination of candidates for the legislature by the people at primaries. At the primaries next May will be chosen delegates to the convention which will name the state, congressional and judicial tickets. By direct primary vote must be named the county tickets in all the counties, and the legislative tickets.

Senator Dick declares he will stand on his record as a protectionist. He further asserts that the tariff will not be an issue in the coming Ohio campaign. In any case, he says, it will not be the sole issue.

Dick is going to have strong opposition for the senatorship. Charles P. Taft, brother of the president, can be counted on as a candidate, as can also ex-governor Myron T. Herrick and Harry M. Daugherty. Judge Robert W. Taylor of Cleveland has been prominently mentioned in connection with the senatorship, but he declines to become a candidate.

Since the recent municipal elections in Ohio the politicians of both parties in the state have been planning plans for the election of a successor to Senator Dick and

SETTLEMENT IN SCHUMACHER CASE

Was Made by Contending Attorneys After Jury Had Been Drawn— Circuit Court Term Ended.

After a jury had been drawn this morning in the damage action brought by Abbie Schumacher, administratrix of the estate of Gustav Schumacher, deceased, against the C. & N. W. railroad company, Attorney J. J. Cunningham, representing the plaintiff, and William G. Wheeler of Milwaukee, counsel for the defendant, reached an adjustment and requested a dismissal of the case. It is understood that the settlement was on a basis of between $2,000 and $3,000. The deceased was a car-repairer in the employ of the railroad company and was struck down by the gasoline "scout" while performing his duties on January 8. Though the bones of one leg were badly crushed he appeared to be progressing towards recovery at the hospital, and the limb was healing when he suddenly died on the first day of March. The theory of the physicians was that some of the coal oil or gas particles from the wound got into the blood and were carried to the heart or brain.

The Jackson vs. Inman action which involved the validity of a note held by the estate of the late W. T. Van Kirk and which the defendant claimed he had paid, a case which has been before the supreme court several times, was also settled and all the litigation which was to come before the court at this time having been disposed of, the jurors were dismissed.

Judge Grimm returned to Jefferson at noon and will be busy with the cases before the Green county court next week.

GOV. DENEEN REMOVES
SHERIFF DAVIS OF CAIRO

Executive Acts Under Mob Violence
Law Which Leaves Him No Discretion.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—Gov. Deneen has removed from office Sheriff P. R. Davis of Alexander county, the man from whom the Cairo mob took the negro Will James and Henry Salzman, the white ax-wielder and lynched them.

The governor acted under the mob violence act of 1905 which leaves him no discretion. He must declare the office vacant when the sheriff loses a prisoner, but the act provides that the governor may on request of the deposed official make an investigation and if convinced the sheriff did all in his power to protect his prisoner re-instate him.

It is predicted that Davis will be reinstated, though the governor would not admit it. Sheriff Davis came to Springfield and had a long conference with the governor. It is understood that he admitted the mob took the prisoner from him. Davis explained the circumstances telling the governor that the mob was composed of outsiders and not of Cairo's respectable elements, that the words were full of angry men who patrolled every road and railroad making it impossible for an officer to escape.

EXCOMMUNICATE MRS. STETSON.
Board of Directors of Mother Church
Oust Her on Charges.

Boston, Nov. 10.—An order of excommunication against Mrs. Augusta M. Stetson of New York, for years regarded as one of the most prominent and powerful members of the Christian Science denomination, was issued by the board of directors of the mother church of this city, the supreme governing authority of the organization.

In their order the directors stated that a conference of more than three days had convinced them of the truth of the charges against Mrs. Stetson, namely, that she had worked against the interests of the church and of the members of the church who were not her followers, and that she had persisted in teachings and practices which are contrary to Christian Science.

Excommunication is rarely resorted to in the Christian Science church, and in view of Mrs. Stetson's prominence the action was regarded in church circles here as the most drastic in the history of the denomination.

One Woman's Way.

Let women with artistic aspirations who worry about their simple household chores read what Mrs. Schumann-Helak has to say of the way in which she learned her parts. "I memorized my parts," she writes in the Bellocator, "while standing at the oil stove cooking our simple meals, or while busy at the wash-tub—with my little ones always around me. Singing, learning, studying, I was always happy because they were with me. If I had to hurry to the theater I would give my children their supper at five o'clock and put them to bed. When I returned at 10 or 11 o'clock I would be treated with a merry bird twitter from each little nest and I would divide my sandwiches with them. Then we would sleep as only the happy and healthy may."

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

MOTHER'S WAGES.

What about mother's wages? Father gets his, the boys get theirs, and the girls get theirs. Nobody pays mother's wages.

Father does not pay mother's wages, because he says it takes all of his to pay the bills and make both ends meet. The boys say they must have good clothes and some "spending money" and they cannot pay mother.

And the girls complain that their small wages all go for suits and hats and ribbons.

So that mother gets no wages. She simply does the family work without pay.

While the others complain, mother hustles.

It is mother who gets up early in the morning to get breakfast for father and the boys and hurries them off to their work, who gets the girls a hasty bite and then warms up the scraps for the little ones who go to school.

Mother eats between times.

It is mother who all day long sweeps and scrubs and dusts and sews and cooks and hinders in the meantime to get two more meals.

And after supper father sits down to his pipe and evening paper or goes downtown to talk politics. The boys dress and go out for "a time." The girls have company. But mother washes the dishes and gets things ready for breakfast and then sits down and darns stockings until bedtime.

Eight hours?

Mother works about eighteen!

And the next day, and the next, and the next, as long as she can keep out of bed, mother keeps up these exacting, never ending labors, while the others get all the pay.

Suppose the family had to employ a housekeeper to do this work! She would demand mighty good pay for these two shifts in one. And perhaps she would throw out at the back kitchen door as much as her wages.

But mother works on and pinches and saves and scrapes—for nothing. Is it fair?

Mother should have her wages. Let father give her most of his. She will make a dollar go further than he can. Let the boys save from their theater tickets and the girls from their chocolates and pay mother something.

Try giving her an allowance, even if it is small, and watch her face brighten until she looks almost as young as her girls. She will not spend it all on herself. Trust mother for that.

Try it. Pay mother her wages.

Partakers of His Glory.

Paul was "debtor both to the Greeks and to the barbarians," not because of what they had done for him, but because of what God had done for him. God's mercy bestowed unlikes us debtors to all. For himself God needs not our thanks, our talents, or our money; therefore he orders that payment be made to the poor and suffering—our brother and the stranger at our gates. The divine receipt given us reads: "As ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me."

If You Are Not Buying Your Clothes of REHBERG Start Today

We believe in the quality of the goods we sell because we know them to be the best of American manufacture; we believe in our ability to undersell because we enjoy a purchasing power greater than that of any of our smaller competitors.

You'll find upon investigation that Rehberg is supplying the clothing needs of more people in southern Wisconsin than you ever imagined; also, you'll find the most magnificent collection of overcoats ever exhibited under one roof; you'll find just the coat you're looking for, at the price you wish to pay, whether it be as low as $10 or as high as $25.

We Ask You to Notice Particularly the Great Line of Overcoats

They're made of the choicest foreign and domestic fabrics in a variety of popular gray effects, also shades of olive, brown, green, tan and blue, as well as plain black fabrics, rough or smooth finish, and many of them are lined with the finest pure dye silk; there are conservative coats, cut 40 inches long, auto models with necktie collar and plaited skirts, and the practical ulsterette, convertible collar. We don't hesitate to say these are the best overcoat values in Janesville at $10, $12.50, $15 and up to $25.

We make a tremendous effort in men's and young men's suits. This store will display hundreds of fine suits, including about a half dozen of our foremost makers. The line is so large and satisfying as to leave little doubt that every man can be suited to perfection. Among the fabrics—worsted, tweeds and chevrons, in stunning light gray effects, also dark mixtures, herringbone weaves and overplaids as well as blue serges, plain or fancy stripes. Each suit affords a remarkable instance of greater value-giving. Priced at $10, $12.75, $14.75, $18, $22.50, $25.

THE MINE FIRE UNDER CONTROL

ONE VICTIM IS BROUGHT TO THE SURFACE AND IDENTIFIED.

19 OTHERS WERE SIGHTED

Sheriff and Officials in Clash Over Secret Methods—Miners at Other Shafts Strike Because of Poor Existing Conditions.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 10.—Fire in the St. Paul mine is burning with redoubled fury. The draft from the air shaft and the revolving fan forced the blaze back and undid the work of the firemen. At 1:30 a. m. the flames were spreading so fast that the fan was stopped. Immediately the heat and the smoke drove the firemen from the shaft, and they came up choking and gasping for breath. The renewal of the fire may cut off work in the mine for a day or two.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 10.—The body of Ollie Freiberg, the first of the entombed miners to be given up by the fiery sepulchre, was brought to the surface of the St. Paul mine just five days and a half after the men were entrapped.

Nineteen more bodies were located near the ventilating shaft, but could not be taken out. The mine is saved and the removal of the dead hundreds was begun in earnest today.

Hope that by a miracle some of the men are still alive, saved by walling themselves in out-of-the-way galleries, urged the rescuers to desperate haste now that the fire is conquered.

Search Will Last Days.

The search for the bodies must last for days. The galleries must be strengthened and air sent into the thousands of rooms in the death cavern. Water, too, may have flooded some parts of the third vein.

The determined attack on the fire through the main pit progressed rapidly today.

The air shaft, following the daring exploration, which resulted in the locating of 20 dead, was closed and a full stream of water directed into it. Then the main shaft was attacked. The temperature of this shaft has been well over 100 degrees, but continuous sprinkling reduced it to about 90 degrees. When the canvas and sand with which the pit had been closed were removed a cloud of steam rolled out, but it was only a puff.

Men Without Helmets Descend.

Men in helmets first descended to the fatal second gallery. They reported the mouth of the drift badly blocked by timbers and mud, but the fact that their safety lamps were not extinguished indicated the absence of black damp. The next squad to descend went without helmets and reported conditions perfect for an attack on the flames within the gallery.

Great difficulty was experienced in lowering a sufficient length of hose pipe—318 feet—into the pit, and it was close to midnight before successful efforts in this direction. The great weight of the big tubes repeatedly broke from the tackle hook, and valuable time was lost.

Various crews made the descent. They reported there was little heat at the mouth of the gallery, but that search for bodies would not be practicable until the blocked opening had been cleared of debris. This promised to be a tedious process, and it was predicted that the work would require at least eighteen hours.

Beyond these obstructions the dead are believed to lie in heaps as they fell in their last despairing rush for the shaft.

National Guardsmen patrolled an area roped off about the shaft, but against the barriers a crowd of anxious men, women and children pressed far into the night.

It was the funeral cortege of the hundreds of lost miners that followed the ghastly, horrible body of Freiberg. No one knew who it was in the company ambulance that carried it. The women followed it, alternately hoping their husband or brother or father or sweetheart had been found, or praying that the certainty of death might be delayed to give just one chance for life. Wept it was in the cold dusk to see the solemn procession. Hum and hush alternated. Dark-skinned foreigners chanted in wailing tones what seemed like dirges for the dead. Cries of anguish and despairing souls came like voices from the dead, so much was the thought of the tortured miners in every mind.

Five Posthumous Children.

And while all this death was about, life was going on. Five babies were born during the night to mothers who mourn their husbands as dead in the mine.

Mine officials clashed with Sheriff Skoglund. Their high-handed efforts to take out the dead secretly aroused such stormy protests from the families of the imprisoned miners and the thousands who have been watching the shaft since Saturday that the officials were ordered out of the mine lines.

Martial law practically exists on the mine grounds as a result. Sheriff Skoglund was called to the scene after the mine officials tried to enforce orders given to the militia.

Threats were made against the company when it was found the big fan which revived the almost extinguished fire Monday was to be used in the descents.

A sullen crowd watched all night beside the main shaft. The two companies of militia forced them back with clubbed rifles. White-faced women and children whose relatives are in the mine still stand huddled near the mouth of the shaft. Most of them are silent. A few still weep. The faces of all are tense, drawn and frightened. Worry and fear, hunger and the cries of their children have set their faces in a sort of terror. They have stood guard most of the hours, nights, days since the first dread rumor that the mine was on fire and all the men were trapped flashed from house to house last Saturday. They followed the first body away but returned to their vigil when it was identified.

It was dread of these women's set faces and the violence their demands for vengeance might excite, that culminated in the trouble with the mine officials last evening.

W. W. Taylor, superintendent of the mines of the St. Paul Coal Company, and James Steele, mine superintendent here, were both ordered off the grounds.

Mr. Taylor ordered Capt. Hall and Capt. Latimer to clear the shaft grounds of all except those whom the mine officials approved. For a time these orders were obeyed, when Sheriff Skoglund protested Mr. Moore told him that if his order was not enforced, he would wire Gov. Deneen that the sheriff was not doing his duty.

Freiberg's Body Disinterred.

Freiberg's body was brought up five days almost to the hour from the time the fire broke out. It was found in the second vein, 65 feet from the air shaft. Stretched at full length, the face blackened, burned and distorted. Freiberg's body lay as he must have fallen on his futile race to the main shaft. He worked in the third vein and was possibly in the cage brought up by Engineer Ralsbeck during the fire.

J. W. Paul, George H. Rice and R. Y. Williams were the ones to enter the underground village of the dead. They carried the body back to the cage and brought it to the top. Death, the horror and grief of it, the agony, the suspense, the suffering it has caused, all these appalled the crowd that had waited for the rescue of the living and the recovery of the dead. Men might be alive in the catacombs of the dead, they thought. A starved man, mad from the horrors he had seen, was almost expected to be brought up.

Crowd Rushes to Shaft.

When the improvised cage showed above the ground there was a rush against the ropes and the guards, then a hush, an uncovering of heads, and a tense straining to see into the shed built by the company in order to smuggle the dead away unseen by the crowd. It was the first of the dead brought up and attention was shifted to the main shaft by sudden word to uncover it. While all rushed there, the company ambulance was backed up to the shed and the body taken to the city hall. There again the mine officials clashed with the authorities. Dr. Howe, county physician, ordered only those admitted who were sure they could identify the body by a description of it. Coroner Malm then took charge and sent the crowd through the temporary morgue in a line.

Work to Aid Sufferers.

Efforts for the relief of the sufferers in the mine disaster were redoubled in Chicago, as the need became more imperative. Families of the miners, left without support, were beginning to suffer severely for the necessities of life. The need is being met by the Red Cross and public-spirited citizens of Chicago.

Meantime the demand for a thorough investigation of the cause of the holocaust and for fixing the responsibility became more insistent. The officers of 70 Chicago labor unions met and passed resolutions calling on Gov. Deneen to take immediate action to this end. Incidentally the resolutions took the state legislature to task for its failure to pass the employers' liability bill.

A strike of 300 miners was called at the Marquette mine, between here and Spring Valley, as a direct protest against alleged absence of precautionary measures. The men were actuated by the catastrophe at the St. Paul Company's mine.

Reports also were received from Fairbury of trouble among the miners, who, excited by the holocaust at Cherry, threaten to strike unless every possible modern precaution is taken to protect the mines in which they work.

USES BOY TO HALT OFFICERS.

Desperate Threatens to Kill Lad if Police Approach.

Holco, Idaho, Nov. 10.—Holding captive a little boy whose life he threatened, thus halting officers seeking to arrest him, a desperate, heavily armed, occupant an upstairs room in the ranchhouse of George Garrett, three miles north of Nampa.

The stranger appeared at Garrett's home and asked for food. Garrett recognized him as the man who shot Policeman George Fleming at Nampa on Tuesday.

The man drew a revolver and carried Garrett's child, Henry, upstairs. He threatened to kill the boy if followed.

Garrett telegraphed for aid and a posse now surrounds the house, at a loss how to proceed.

Florida Fast Mail Is Wrecked. Columbia, S. C., Nov. 10.—Seaboard Air Line train No. 43, known as the Florida Fast Mail, was wrecked about two miles south of Denmark. The fireman was killed and Engineer Pett slightly injured.

CLUE TO MURDER IS STILL LACKING

MURDERERS OF HEDWIG ZINDA ARE STILL AT LARGE.

ONE MAN WAS A BLOND

Human Hair, Not Girl's, Was Found Clinging to Corpse at Post-Mortem Examination—Big Reward Asked For.

Milwaukee, Nov. 10.—No clue of the murderers of little Hedwig Zinda has yet been discovered. The police are positive that there were two, at least, connected with her death.

Various theories have been advanced by the police and others. That two Russian laborers who disappeared the night of the crime were suspected of being the guilty ones was the most prominent theory advanced. This theory was thoroughly investigated, and while two men are missing, it has been ascertained that the men against whom suspicion was directed made plans several days previous to their departure to leave Friday or Saturday last.

Men Familiar with Neighborhood.

While the police have little of a tangible nature to work upon, the general trend of opinion among the heads of the department is that two men familiar with the neighborhood on the North side, where the crime was committed, are the guilty ones.

One step in the solution of the mystery was taken when it was definitely ascertained that at least one of the girl's assailants was a pronounced blond.

This was discovered by Dr. Wilhelm Becker, who, with Dr. H. E. Bradley, conducted a post-mortem examination on the body of the dead girl.

Human hair, not the girl's own, was found clinging to the corpse.

To Ask for Reward.

A resolution will be introduced in the common council at its next meeting offering a reward of $1,000 for the capture of the murderers. Mayor Rice and other city officials are stirred over the cruel murder and will do all in their power to run down the criminals.

ALLEN FORGED NOTE ON PASTOR

Alleged Bank Wrecker Was a Wonderful Man for Prayer.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Phil Allen, Jr., held for trial by the federal authorities on the charge of wrecking the First National bank of Mineral Point, Wis., is reported to treasury department officials as having made such a "clean up" as even included his own pastor as a shining mark.

Reverend Scotland reports that he has just discovered a forged note of his on the pastor for $200.

Allen, from reports which reach the treasury department, was versatile. In addition to being vice-president of the bank and a leading citizen of the town, he was known throughout that locality as a wonderful man for prayer. Presumably with a view of maintaining his reputation, Allen inquired of the authorities when they placed him under arrest after their failure to find something of the bank's that he had left.

"Do you think they will let me deliver the prayers at the penitentiary if I am sent there?"

70 TO 100 CUSTOMS EMPLOYEES TO BE DROPPED

Collector Loeb Will Take Drastic Action as Result of Sugar Fraud Investigation.

New York, Nov. 10.—Within a month between 70 and 100 employees of the customs service will be dropped as a result of the investigation of the sugar frauds and other irregularities. The shanks will be even larger than was expected and it will begin at once. Collector Loeb made no announcement but it was learned on good authority that a considerable number of employees will know within a day or two.

That the total number of employees implicated in frauds is between 70 and 100 instead of only 22, as first reported, was made known at Washington Thursday. It indicates that the customs frauds have been much greater than had been supposed. The men to be discharged are largely civil employees.

START ALASKA COAL INQUIRY.

Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy Is Linked with Investigation.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 10.—The inquiry instituted by the department of the interior into the validity of the 33 coal land entries in Alaska that are included in the Cunningham group around which the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy centers, began before Special Commissioner W. J. McGee.

J. M. Sheridan of Denver, Col., chief counsel for the government, and W. H. Pugh of Washington, D. C., counsel and member of the board of land review in the general land office, have been engaged for several weeks preparing the case of the government.

The aggregate acreage involved is 5,280. An estimate of the value of the coal in these claims is $50,000,000. The land department claims that entrymen did not make locations for their own exclusive benefit, but that prior to making the locations they entered into an agreement to consolidate and hold the lands. It is also contended that the lands have not been improved as required by law.

IF you had something important to say to 40,000 people, who live in Janesville and adjacent territory, and your whole business depended upon getting it said—

You wouldn't say it vocally, or on the billboards, or in circulars, or in the smaller newspapers; you would use the one Biggest, Fairest medium of all—The Janesville Gazette.

BECAUSE

The Gazette circulation is great enough to reach almost this entire field, and for these same reasons the Gazette carries daily more advertising than all other Janesville newspapers combined. THE EXECUTION OF AMERICANS

REPORTED TWO UNITED STATES CITIZENS MEET DEATH IN NICARAGUA.

WAR VESSELS ARE EN ROUTE

President Zelaya's Action Brings About a Big Diplomatic Tangle—Unusual Gravity Exists in Attitude of Foreign Governments.

Washington, Nov. 19.—With two Americans believed to have been executed by order of President Zelaya, two American war vessels being rushed to Nicaragua and the new Nicaraguan minister's presentation to President Taft being held up indefinitely, a diplomatic tangle of great breadth and of almost endless possibilities has developed within a few hours.

Indications point to complications that may upset the peace of Central and South America. Should present reports receive full corroboration, the United States government will deal with this situation with an iron hand, according to intimations from a high source.

Unusual Gravity Exists.
Unusual gravity, aside from the killing of Americans, rests in the attitude of foreign governments. It will, of course, not be conceded by any official that ulterior motives of a foreign power are back of the disturbance in Nicaragua, but it is openly discussed. The name of Germany has often been mentioned.

Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon, Americans, captured while serving with the revolutionary army in Nicaragua, have been sentenced to death by President Zelaya's orders, and it seems certain that the sentences have been carried out. The cruiser Vicksburg has been ordered to Corinto and the gunboat Des Moines will proceed at once to Port Limon to observe events there and report the situation by wireless telegraph. The meeting between President Taft and the new minister from Nicaragua, Isidoro Izarra, has been postponed indefinitely.

News concerning the two Americans reached the state department from the consulate at Managua. It is said that their capture was followed almost immediately by a death sentence. The consul appealed at once to President Zelaya to commute the sentences and the answer was "I will see." Upon a second appeal Zelaya said: "The sentence is final."

No Doubt of Execution.
A dispatch received at the state department is to the effect that the men undoubtedly have been executed. Upon this information the secretary of state asked the secretary of the navy to order the Vicksburg to proceed in all haste to Corinto to protect Americans and their interests. The Des Moines was ordered to Port Limon at top speed for the same purpose. These vessels will be in constant communication by wireless with the state department.

Executions of the Americans is believed to have taken place at El Castillo, near Greytown. The brutality of the Nicaraguan government in ordering the death without trial of these men, who happened to be found with the revolutionists, may lead this government to take drastic measures to prevent a repetition of such an outrage, and President Zelaya will be held to strict accountability for his action.

500 Are Executed.
Panama, Nov. 19.—Passengers arriving here from Nicaragua report that a reign of terror exists throughout the part of that country controlled by President Zelaya. Government troops are rounding up all persons suspected of sympathy with the revolutionists, and executing them without trial.

More than 500 men suspected of revolutionary sympathies are said to have been summarily shot, and still the bloody work continues. Residents are ransacked by Zelaya's soldiers in search of incriminating letters and evidence, and when resistance is offered the houses are destroyed.

Managua, Nicaragua, Nov. 19.—Messrs. Cannon and Grace, the Americans who were executed for complicity in the rebellion, were tried at a fair court-martial held under the direction of the government. The men, it was charged, were responsible for placing dynamite mines which were intended to blow up government steamers laden with troops which entered the river at Greytown.

One of the mines planted by Cannon and Grace exploded 15 yards from the steamer Diamante. When Cannon and Grace were captured they had with them dynamite machines and other accessories for blowing up vessels. The men confessed their guilt to the authorities and also in letters to their families.

Previously Cannon had taken part in a revolution against Nicaragua from Honduras, where he was imprisoned for several months.

Dramatic Suicide.
Wabash, Ind., Nov. 19.—When her husband refused to return to her Mrs. Joseph Bidwell offered her hand in parting, turned her head and drained a vial of carbolic acid dying almost instantly. Her dramatic suicide was made while she was surrounded by her grandchildren and daughter as well as husband with whom she had lived 31 years.

DISLOCATED ELBOW WHEN DUGGY WAS OVERTURNED

George Butler Victim of Accident Caused by Wildness of Western Broncho.

Monticello, Nov. 18.—While engaged in breaking one of his western bronchos on Thursday, George G. Butler was thrown from the rig in which he was superintending some work and dislocated his elbow. The accident happened when the horse slid off the side of an embankment and overturned the rig. It will doubtless be some time before he fully regains the use of the member.

Herman Rupp.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rupp of Washington township mourn the loss of their youngest son, Herman, whose death occurred on Sunday evening at a quarter past 11 o'clock. He suffered from peritonitis and his illness was of very brief duration. He was taken sick Friday evening after he had spent the day at school, apparently in his usual health. Medical aid was summoned Saturday evening and he appeared to improve rapidly, but Sunday his condition took a sudden change for the worse.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the German Reformed church and was attended by an unusually large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends. Rev. Muchlender officiated and the remains were tenderly laid at rest in Highland cemetery.

AFTON.

Afton, Nov. 19.—The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Griffin was marked by a gathering of relatives and friends at their spacious home, near Afton, last Friday evening, at which appropriate tokens of remembrance and esteem were presented to the couple and a splendid supper was served. All present report a very enjoyable evening.

Rev. D. W. Hulbert, D. D., of Wauwatosa, Wis., spoke eloquently at the Baptist church last Monday evening on "Afton's greatest need," which, he declared, was a more spiritual life.

The initial meeting of the Moonlight club, to be held at Shoppers, Tuesday evening, Nov. 20th, gives promise of being a very interesting gathering.

A regular business meeting of the Loyal American assembly will be held at the home of William Danoyer, Monday evening, Nov. 22nd, at which time new officers will be elected and installed.

The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Ella Holtz last Wednesday.

Ernest G. Ambold is attending business college at Janesville.

F. C. Miller of Crookston, Minn., made a brief call on relatives and old friends here last Wednesday. He was on his way home from Chicago where he had gone with a carload of poultry.

C. H. Orison and Mrs. C. H. Ambold left for Spencer, Iowa last Monday night, being called there by the death of their uncle, Adam Griffin.

Chicken pie will be served at the annual supper to be given by the Ladies' Aid society at Brinkman's hall next Tuesday evening. Supper will be served from 6 to 8, after which a specially prepared program will be given by the pupils of the state graded school, preparations for which are in charge of the teachers, the Misses Palmer and Sapor.

MARINE DISASTERS ON LAKES.

Five Ships Are Sunk During Heavy Storm—Others Damaged.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—Five ships have been sunk, two have been badly damaged and a financial loss of nearly $500,000 has been incurred in the last three days as a result of the storm that has been raging in the upper lakes.

With all the enormous loss only one man has been drowned. He was Stephen Denzer, who lashed himself to a spar, refusing to take to the small boats when the steamer, Louis Pablow broke up.

The steamers lost are the Ottawa, $130,000; Pablow, $15,000; barge Illinois, $15,000; barge Commerce, $5,000; James H. Hoyt, $230,000.

BOARD ACCEPTS COMPROMISE.

Drops Suit Against Bondman of Former School Superintendent.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 19.—Suits against the bondman of Newton C. Dougherty by the Peoria school board trustees for shortages amounting to more than $400,000 were accepted when the trustees decided to accept $27,500 and released them from all further obligations.

Dougherty is now a convict in the penitentiary at Joliet, serving an indefinite sentence.

Forcibly Feed Suffragette.

London, Nov. 19.—Alice Paul, the American suffragette, who is serving a month's sentence at hard labor in Holloway jail for breaking a stained glass window at the Guildhall on the occasion of the lord mayor's banquet to the cabinet, was forcibly fed after fasting for eight days. The suffragette imprisoned at Bristol for using a dog whip on Winston Churchill has adopted a new style of protest against man-made laws by refusing to don prison clothes, sitting nude in her cell and singing the Marseillaise.

MILLERS DEFY GOVERNMENT.

Secretary Wilson Takes Drastic Action to Compel Obedience.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Open defiance by millers of the government's warning to cease the manufacture of bleached flour, on pain of its being seized, has led Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to take drastic action to compel obedience to federal regulations.

Inspectors have been ordered to seize all the bleached flour in the country, and 14 consignments, comprising several hundred car loads, have already been taken in the west. It is supposed here that about $1,000,000 worth of bleached flour was manufactured during the last year.

THANKSGIVING LINENS

Special Display and Sale of Fine Household Linen

Housekeepers look forward to Thanksgiving as the time when linen closets may be replenished at little cost. For years this store has been recognized as headquarters for all that is best in linens. Our stock is without rival in Janesville and would do justice to a city many times larger. The finest lines of imported linens we have ever before had the pleasure to show are now here awaiting your inspection and approval. This gathering includes everything needed in linens. Whatever is wanted you'll surely find it here at a most attractive price. Now is the time to secure a generous supply. No better opportunity of saving money in this line will be offered this season. Ninety-nine women out of every hundred would waste no time in getting here as early as possible if they only realized how really remarkable the values are, what savings each item represents. Morning is in every way the best time to do your shopping, especially so as the holidays draw near. The first comers will get the choicest patterns, so don't delay.

LINENS, like a great many other things, have advanced in price and will advance still more. The present condition of the linen market has been brought about on account of increased prosperity, scarcity of raw materials, and tariff changes. In the face of the above facts we will offer for

4 Days, Saturday Until Thanksgiving, All Linens Mentioned Below at One-Tenth Off the Prices

A DOLLAR'S WORTH FOR 90c. Four months from now you will better appreciate how low these SALE PRICES ARE, quality considered.

Pattern Cloths

We have the largest and most complete stock of Pattern Cloths in the Northwest (except Chicago and Milwaukee). Pattern cloths of all sizes and qualities, over 75 beautiful patterns to select from. In Irish, Flemish, German and Scotch manufacture, both round and square. There are many of the most beautiful floral and conventional designs we have ever shown, in this wonderful collection. The cloths come in the following sizes: 2 yds x 2 yds, 2 yds x 2 1/2 yds, 2 yds x 3 yds, 2 1/2 yds x 3 yds, 2 1/2 yds x 3 1/2 yds, 3 yds x 3 yds. Remember there is a reduction of one-tenth from the above prices.

Napkins

We have Napkins to match each and every pattern shown in the pattern cloths. Nothing could be more beautiful, or set off a table to better advantage, than a matched set of beautiful snow white linen, fine in quality and pretty in design. We take great pleasure, yes, and pride, also, in showing our large assortments. The sizes are 22 in., 24 in., 25 in., 26 in., and 27 in. Prices $3, $3.50, $4, $4.50, $5, $5.50, $6, $6.50, $7, $7.50, $8, $8.50, $9, $10 and $13 a dozen.

Other Napkins ranging in size from 14 in. to 26 in. and in price from 75c to $5 a doz.

All of the above at one-tenth reduction.

Damask By the Yard

While the pattern cloths are always more beautiful, many people prefer yard goods, and right here we wish to state that our yard goods section is filled to overflowing with the best of qualities and a large range of prices. From the cotton mercerized at 50c a yard to the heavy all linen damask at $2.50 a yard, nothing is found wanting. Particularly we wish to call your attention to our German Silver Bleached Linen. This is noted for its wearing qualities, its extra weight, and its softness, as it contains absolutely no dressing of any kind. 72 in. $1.00 a yard. Also we wish to mention two numbers of natural damask, just as it comes from the loom; the pattern shows white against the natural linen color ground. These two numbers are especially adapted for hard usage; 72 in. $1.25 a yard. Other linens at the following prices: 50c, 55c, 75c, 85c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 per yard.

Plain Damask, extra quality, full bleached, 72 in. $2.50 a yard.

THREE MILLION OF CHRISTMAS STAMPS

To Be Sold in Wisconsin to Aid Fight Against Tuberculosis—Governor
Urges Co-operation.
"Let each one of us aid in this noble fight against consumption by buying one of these little stamps."

"This is the keynote of an impressive letter written by Gov. Davidson
to Stanley A. Douglas, manager of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association's campaign to sell 3,000,000 Wisconsin Christmas stamps, between
Nov. 29 and Dec. 31.

"I earnestly hope that the people
of this state will come forward now
and give the anti-tuberculosis movement their active co-operation and support," the governor continues.
"Wisconsin has always been a leader
in progressive work that has meant the upbuilding of this nation and its people, and this is in my opinion,
the greatest in which its people can better concentrate their efforts than
in this great war."
"From the report of the state board of health we learn that 2,500 citizens of Wisconsin die each year from consumption; that there are at present 10,000 men, women and children suffering from this disease in Wisconsin. Scientists in our great university and elsewhere assure us that tuberculosis is both curable and preventable. Then why is it not cured and prevented? We are told that consumption can be eradicated in Wisconsin
in ten years, provided that the people learn the facts concerning the disease and that suitable laws are placed upon the statute books and conscientiously enforced."

"The educational work carried on by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association during the last ten months
has been done with money procured
from the sale of the penny Christmas stamp last fall. Great good has been accomplished and already there has been a decrease in the prevalence of the disease."

Manager Douglas is still in need
of local managers in smaller cities, especially. Three million stamps are to be sold this year and the assistance of every person in every community is needed.

The schools will work to their utmost to win the Aero vacuum cleaning system donated as prizes by the American Air Cleaning Co. of Milwaukee. The prizes are worth about $1,000 each and one will be awarded to a school in Milwaukee for selling
the largest number of stamps in proportion to the population or attendance, giving each an edge chance.

"There is an indomitable spirit in the educational crusaders of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, which earns respect and compels attention. Last week in Manitowish, where the exhibition put in a week
of crusade work, the executives of the association were not content with reaching merely those who came to the exhibits. It is well known that the people who can be most benefited
by the lessons that consumption is curable and preventable are the ones least likely to avail themselves of their opportunity. It was for this reason that arrangements were made with the proprietors of the moving-picture theatres to allow the association's representatives, Mr. Sanchez, to go before the audience between shows. Large numbers of people were thus reached who otherwise would not have been. 'Not without, not kid
glove combat, but hand-to-hand fighting' is the Wisconsin slogan."

THE VALUE OF PROPRIETARY MEDICINES.

Is proven by the very large percentage of physicians' prescriptions for the same remedies found in every drug store in America, but as they are written in Latin, few patients realize this fact.
The old proprietary medicine
known as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that have stood the test of time, deserves a place in every family medicine chest, and it is most certainly they would not be prescribed by physicians if they were able to devise a formula equally as effec-tuous.

CASING WEATHER IS A HELP TO GROWERS

Could Take the Crop Down From the Poles If They Wished.

Recent casing weather has placed
the hanging tobacco into condition that it might be removed from the poles if growers were so disposed, but it is extremely doubtful if very much has been taken down, especially if they consult the wishes of the buyers in large proportion of the crop. The general impression among growers is that the crop ought not to be stripped for some time yet. There are so many stems, especially in the late harvested portion, that the stalks
ought to remain hanging until well towards spring before it is advisable to place the leaf into bundles. The greatest care should be employed in the handling of the 1901 crop, as the leaf is delicate in texture, calling for unusual painstaking in preparing it for market and the handling of high case or wet stems is very liable to stain or damage leaf that otherwise would be entirely satisfactory. The longer the stalk stays in the shed the safer the grower will be from these difficulties, as freezing is likely to take out the excess moisture these stems now contain. Several firms are sending out suggestions embodying their views regarding stripping and preparing the crop for delivery and they quite generally agree that the growers ought to allow their tobacco
to remain on the poles as long as possible, even if they forego the usual holiday money that comes very handy about that time of the year. The chances for early deliveries, therefore, for these reasons, are not extremely bright.

What work there is going on towards lifting the balance of the '01
tobacco is mainly being done by the American Tobacco company who have their buyers posted in nearly every growing section of the state and taking over what crops they can induce growers to part with at prices generally under the seven cent limit. So far it has been rather up hill work to break down former prices to these figures, but in the aggregate a small army of buyers in the field have been able to secure a good many hundred acres.

Just a fair business is being done in the cured leaf markets. The bulk of the large transactions in Wisconsin leaf of late have occurred in the eastern markets and the '01 especially is bringing quite satisfactory prices.
There is a strong inquiry in the local markets for the cheaper grades of all years where price is the determining factor, but even this class of goods is pretty well disposed of. A lot of 287cs of '01 from the Madden Bros.
packing has been sold during the week. A buyer from the Crystal Leaf Tobacco company of Pittsburgh has also picked up about 200 cases in local markets. A number of smaller transactions are also reported aside from the usual trade on manufacturers' orders.

The shipments out of storage reach 602 cases from this market to all points for the week.

FOR AUGUST BUGGS

Returned by Jury in Circuit Court
Last Evening After Deliberations
Lasting Six Hours.

After deliberations lasting six hours,
the circuit court jury trying the dam-

Rock County Sugar company returned a verdict of $3,500 for the plaintiff at 9:45 last evening. Arguments were completed shortly before four o'clock
yesterday afternoon and six questions were submitted to the jurors. All six were answered in favor of the plaintiff. Mr. Buggs was injured by the explosion of an evaporator at the factory on Sept. 20, 1907, and an assassinate was killed. Attorneys J. J. Dungham and William Rucker, Sr., represented the plaintiff and Attorneys M. G. Jeffrie and M. D. Mount were counsel for the defendant.

CHAPTER XXII.

IT was to Brooks an interminable week that elapsed between his visit to Smith and the latter's return from his mission. Patience was one of his virtues. Having taken the decisive step toward a reconciliation with Emma, he yearned more than ever for his wife herself. He saw her now only as she was when he had made her his bride, only as she had been in the full flowering of her rhapsodic adoration, and the vision abided with him by day as well as by night, intruding all his senses.

That the rapprochement would be effected he entertained no doubt whatever. Her present position, he was convinced, must be intolerable. He planned to make her homecoming an occasion of festivity that would mark the beginning of a new, unending honeymoon. He had learned much from the desolation of a loveless life. Things that had bored him would now be delights. He would comport himself differently toward her in many ways.

He spent his leisure time after business hours and on the Sunday while Smith was away in looking up apartments and in other preparations for the resumption of housekeeping, also in elaborating the programme of celebration.

It was with eagerness and confidence that he repaired to Smith's lodgings on Monday evening, having ascertained at the boarding-house during the day that his friend had returned that morning from his trip out of town.

Smith was of too frank a nature to keep him for one instant under the delusion he saw by his manner he entertained. Emma had demonstrated to him the impossibility of living with her husband and the futility of further effort to that end—shown him that a new and brighter flame, all consuming, all purifying, had enveloped her heart and that it had purged it of every trace of the old slain sentiment. The knowledge that it burned for him made his present task a peculiarly hard and painful one.

"I'm sorry, Joe," he said, almost before his visitor had seated himself, "but there's nothing doing."

"Brooks' expectant smile died out.

"How do you mean nothing doing? Wasn't she there? Weren't you able to see her?"

"Yes, I saw her, and she refused. She will have nothing further to do with you."

Incredulity gave place quickly to bitter disappointment.

"How's that? What did you say to her?"

"I told her that you were leading a straight life, all about your circumstances, that you were sorry for what had occurred and that in future it would be all different and you would do everything in your power to make her happy. I told her that you loved her more than ever. But it was no use."

"Didn't you advise her to make up?"

"I did, Joe. I urged her to forget and forgive, pleaded hard for you, told her I thought she ought to return to you. She said she could have forgiven the matter of money, but that in sending her to Captain Williams that night you killed every bit of her love for you and she would never pardon your act as long as she drew breath. 'He is dead to me for all time, dead and buried,' she said. I hate to have to tell you these hard things, but you asked angly and aggressively. 'She knew she was talking rot too. She herself told me that nothing happened to her when she went to Williams'. She gave him some soft talk, cried a little maybe when she pleaded for me, and because he liked her he gave her the paper releasing me. That's all there was to it. It was as easy as rolling off a log, and I don't see why she should still be making such a fuss about it, do you?"

"I think I do. You took the chance that something might happen to her. You must have expected that it would, and you were prepared to shut your eyes so long as she got what you wanted. That's what she can't overlook."

"Then you think she did right in leaving me?"

"That is a question I'd rather not pass upon. It ain't any part of what you asked me to do."

"But I want to know what you think."

"And I'd rather not express any opinions one way or the other. I'm a friend of both of you, and you ought not to ask me such a thing."

"Oh, you needn't be afraid! You know as well as I do that something had to be done—done at once—and there was no other way out of it than by getting her to see Williams. In the morning it would have been too late. She's making a mountain out of a molehill, and I shouldn't wonder if you've been helping her, with your straitlaced ways."

"Thanks. I didn't bring that subject up at all—never opened my mouth about it."

"You must have rubbed her temper up the wrong way, then. I ought to have seen her myself. I might have known you'd handle the whole business."

"Joe, I did the very best for you I could, the best I know how. I can imagine how you feel about it, and I'm sorry for you, real sorry for you."

Brooks made a savage dive for the matchbox and relit his cigar that had gone out.

"Look here, Jimmy," he said, "I don't want your pity nor anybody else's. I ought to have seen her myself, and then everything would have been O. K. I could have fixed it up with her in two minutes. I will see her at once. Give me the address."

"It would be useless and would only make matters worse. I can't."

"You mean you won't?"

"Well, I won't, if you wish me to put it that way."

"You have no right to stand between a man and his wife."

"No, Joe, and God is my witness that I would not willingly do such a thing for all earth has to offer."

Brooks rose excitedly, an ugly scowl on his face.

"There is some other motive for this," he said, "and I'll tell you what it is. You don't want us to come together again. It ain't to your interest. You're standing in with that mother of hers."

"You know that is not true," returned Smith earnestly. "I have done all I could for you."

"Yes, you have," sneered Brooks. "Why don't you want us to make up? Do you think I don't know? Do you think I haven't seen that you've been jealous of me ever since Emma turned you down? Do you?"

"Joe?"

Smith also rose and faced him, very white, all the kindness gone from his visage.

"Do you think I don't know why you've been snooping around her skirts, installing yourself as one of the family in my home? I'm not blind when it doesn't suit me to be, and I've had enough of being fooled and walked all over by everybody who wanted to wipe their feet on me."

"Joe, my boy, you don't know what you're saying, and you'll be sorry when you cool down."

"Sorry nothing!" Brooks shouted, beside himself with fury. "You make me sick with your slow talk and oily words! What do you think I am? You'll give me that address this minute or by heck I'll kick it out of your carcass!"

Brooks picked up a jackknife which at the time of his arrival Smith had been using to cut the leaves of a book and rushed at him.

Jimmy's big hands descended on both his assailant's wrists. Brooks was strong, but he strained in vain in the grasp of iron. His right arm slowly weakened and twisted gradually until the fingers opened and with a groan of pain he dropped the blade. Smith continued to twist until he had wrung all the fight out of him and he had him limp and helpless. Then he let him go and picked up the knife.

"You'd better leave weapons out of your arguments, Brooks, or you'll sure be hurting somebody one of these days," he recommended. "It's dangerous—dangerous to yourself as well."

Brooks, sullen and panting, dropped into a chair, tears of humiliation and baffled rage hovering frantically in his eyes.

"It was your fault—you drove me to it," he declared.

"It's a mighty bad thing, as a general rule, to let your ill humor get away with your nerves," chided Smith. "You have acted tonight like a put-up kid, instead of like a man I've tried to help. You've put yourself out of court, and I'm through trying to do anything for you."

Pessimists and old maids find their solace in thinking of what might have been—conclusive evidence that neither will ever startle the advertising world.

You Serve Good Health With Bonano

IT agrees with your household—big folks, baby folks and all. A bracing, pure-food fruit drink; warming, palate-tempting, energy-building.

It's the drink to do big things on. Puts you on your mettle—gives you stamina, and stick.

It supports nobly—a prop that does not palsy; a stimulant that does not sap. BONANO is not a "near" coffee, but a wholesome table drink in a class of its own, with its own flavor, its own spicy odor, its own full, satisfying "body."

Try BONANO a week or two. You will like it better and better every day as you feel your health improve, your nerves get firm, your brain grow clear, your digestion become right—when you learn what it is to work like a giant and sleep like a baby.

BONANO can easily be made to suit each individual taste by boiling it more or less or using a larger or smaller quantity than directions call for. You can easily find the way you like it best.

BONANO is just the appetizing goodness of fully matured, tropic-ripened bananas—the choicest that grow—dried, roasted, granulated—served as a golden brown, aromatic beverage. No adulteration, no artificial coloring or flavor.

Your doctor will tell you that bananas are high in food value, that they are easily and quickly digested by the weakest stomach without over-taxing, that they help in assimilation and digestion and are mildly corrective, that they contain or develop no poisons; and thus BONANO is pure and wholesome and can be given in perfect safety to an unweaned babe.

For Insomnia: Those who are unable to sleep find that a before-retiring cup of BONANO promptly induces restful, refreshing slumber.

BONANO is an economical drink, too. It goes twice as far as coffee. It requires little sugar because of the fruit-sweet it contains. A 25-cent can of BONANO makes 75 cups of the best hot drink you ever tasted.

These Clothes Look New as Long as they Last

A suit that will look smart and hold shape until it's worn out is worth 100 per cent more than one that looks shabby and out of shape as soon as the newness wears off. Isn't that so?

Clothcraft All-Wool Clothes

will wear out in time. But until their last day, they will hold their shape and their style.

They are skillfully and honestly made out of nothing but pure wool cloth. That's why they last long and look well as long as they last. Each suit carries a Signed Guarantee, that insures you against disappointment.

And they cost no more than common clothes—$10 to $25. They are the ONLY guaranteed pure wool clothes at these prices in America.

If every man in this town knew how good these wonderful clothes are, we would have to double the size of our store. You can find out how good they are today.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

Noah's Animals. The Bible has the following to say about the number of animals of each kind which Noah took on board the ark: Genesis, seventh chapter, second verse: "Of each clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens the male and his female, and of beasts that are not clean by two, the male and his female." Genesis, seventh chapter, third verse: "Of fowls also of the air by sevens, the male and the female, to keep seed alive upon the face of the earth."

Framed. Maude—Who was it that called a woman's eyes "the windows of her soul"? Tony—Some chap whose girl wore glasses, I suppose.
